

Here are two ways you can use your caption image to raise a bob or two for Red Nose Day 2009:

- Attach the image to an email asking colleagues, family and friends to reply with a funny caption to accompany the picture. Simply ask them to throw in a few quid to your fundraising kitty for the chance to win the title of the Funniest Caption Writer! Then just get someone impartial and trustworthy to judge whose caption is the funniest. The winner receives half the money raised and the other half goes to Comic Relief.
- Use the image to fill the empty frame on the back of your Red Nose Day Caption Competition Poster – that's if you haven't already found your own funny picture!

(If you've not yet got your mitts on our free Caption Competition Poster, download one now at rednoseday.com/do_something/tools.)